CITY HIGH SCHOOL.

Tender of a Scholarship From Washington and Lee University

Last week one of the professors of Washington and Lee University, who had seen the curriculum required for graduation in our city high school, wrote to Prof. J. P. Mauzy, complimenting him on the thoroughness of the course and enclosed a form to be filled out making application to the faculty of the university for a yearly scholarship for this school.

This is a deservedly high compliment, since these scholarships, entitling the but few schools in our state, and these are without exception schools of recognized excellence.

No high school in the State has a fuller or more complete course of study than our city high school, embracing, as it does, a thorough and comprehensive course of study in English, Latin, French, German, mathematics and the natural sciences.

To Prof. Mauzz, who has been in natural sciences.

To Prof. Mauzy, who has been in charge of this school since its inception, much credit is due for the able and efficient manner in which he has conducted it and for the high standard of excellence to which he has brought the course of study. The high school is but a common center, towards which converge all the educational lines of our public school system, from the primary through the grammar grades, and it speaks well for the educational interests of our city that its efficiency should mary through the grammar grades, and it speaks well for the educational interests of our city that its efficiency should be recognized in so marked a manner.

Under the administration of Superintendent Rust, the public schools of our city have made rapid strides towards the front ranks of the schools in our State. A wise discrimination in the selection of teachers, and improvement in the course of studies, show that both he and the board of trustees are wide-awake to the best interests of our schools, the growing popularity of which is evidenced by the increase of attendance and by the character of the patronage. And in the financial stringency through which we are passing, it behooves the City Council to see that no false economy in the way of retrenchment should handicap these gentlemen in their efforts to put our public schools on the highest plane of excellence to which they can stain; for nothing is of more vital importance to us, as a city, than that we should be able to point with pride to the efficiency of our public schools.

What's a Man to Do?

What's a Man to Do?

What's a Man to Do?

The caprices of women are sometimes hard to account for, and a poor man doesn't know what to do. A St. Paul, Minn., man locked his wife out and she wants a divorce; a Chicago man locked his wife in and she wants a divorce; a Boston man wouldn't lock the door at all and his wife wants a divorce. What's a man to do when he is confronted by a man to do when he is confronted by trouble in the family if he locks out, in, or doesn't lock at all? Had better give it up and surrender the key. - Manches ter Leader.

SOUTH CAROLINA DISPENSARY CASE. Argument Concluded Yesterday-Court Moets Again To-day.

Moets Again To-day.

Columbia, S. C., May 7.—In the United States court to-day, before Judges Goff and Simonton, argument in the dispensary case was concluded. J. P. K. Bryan, attacked the law on two points, making a three hour speech. He claimed the law was unconstitutional because it was not a proper exercise of the State's police power, and because it discriminated in favor of the products of this State against those of other States. Attorney General Barber closed the argument for the State, taking occasion in the course of his speech to reply to the political thrusts made by Pope and Caldwell in their attacks upon the dispensary law yesterday.

State Liquor Commissioner Mixson and Constables Davis and La Far made a return to the rule to show cause why they should not be attached for contempt of court in having violated Judge Goff's temporary injunction in the dispensary case. They disavowed any intent to show disrespect and the constables claimed they had made no seizures of liquor after being informed of the injunction. Court will meet tomorrow at noon and decisions will be handed down in the registration and contempt cases and probably in the dispensary case aslo.

ANOTHER GORGEOUS CAR COMES. Second Billing Brigade of the Great Wal-lace Shows Does Its Work.

Second Billing Brigade of the Great Wallace Shows Does Its Work.

It is only a week since the Great Wallace Shows' No. 1 bill car was here and decorated this town in flaming colors from one end to the other. That seemed enough to herald most any aggregation, but a second one pulled in last evening and gave more beauty to dull places. This car, like the first, is a work of art inside and outside, and certainly heralds a great show. A small circus could not support two of such magnificence.

This car is in charge of Mr. C. A. Potter, a genial gentleman, who has been in the show business for thirty-five years. He is known the length and breadth of the landss an advance agent. He spends his winters in the service of metropolitan dailes. He has served two terms in the legislature of his State. Mr. M. Fagin, the boss bill poster, is an expert and is ably assisted by eighteen experts. This force makes a specialty of advertising the excursions which all the lines of railroads coming into town will run on show day at greatly reduced rates.

The sight of such a car as this and the one which preceded it gives one confidence in the greatness of the show they herald. Cheap aggregations could not support so much spiendor.
